Gauging the state of evangelism on your Discipleship Team

Over time, a zeal for evangelism can wane on a team. A regular, honest evaluation of the state of evangelism on your team may help to prevent a sense of complacency. This is a tool that you may want to use every several months to ensure that you are aware of any attitudes or practices that might hinder effective evangelism. In addition, it is a way to reflect upon the strengths and growth of your team for the sake of encouragement and thanksgiving.
